At Addovation, we are passionate about delivering value and we have a genuine commitment to our customers and their operations. We develop long-term partnerships with our customers and base these relationships on mutual trust, respect and openness.

We manage implementations, upgrades, hosting and develop add-ons to optimize business processes.

FOR THE CHALLENGERS

We know some of the challenges you face when implementing and running an ERP system. It is hard to achieve the simplicity that users expect, the flexibility the process owners deserve and the efficiency that management demands.

This is why we have a dedicated R&D Team investing their time to create a unique solution where you have the necessary tools to enthuse end users, inspire process owners and impress managers.

Addovation improves user experience by providing Microsoft® Office® as a user interface for IFS Applications. The solutions blend IFS Applications with Microsoft Office combining productivity with business data and processes.

Our company offers a number of standard solutions for IFS Applications like the Office Automation Suite (OAS), an add-in to Microsoft Office. The OAS contains modules like the 'Document Management' for non ERP users, 'Information Merger', 'Signature Management' and 'Power Tools'.

Process owners in the company will experience improved efficiency and extended value by broadening the use of IFS Applications.

The flexibility in our solutions will provide greater ability to meet ever changing business needs. Serving businesses with increased speed and agility, Addovation helps bridge the gap between the requirements of the end users and the functionality that IT delivers.

BENEFITS

Wouldn't you say that Document Management is easier, faster, and more efficient when being executed in the world's most used editors – Word, Excel, PowerPoint, Outlook? With our Add-on, users of IFS Applications can perform everyday document managment actions in their preferred user interface.

Easier!
With Microsoft Office as the user interface to IFS Applications, end users can perform complex document management operations, retrieve data from IFS Applications and find appropriate templates, with a single click of a button!

Faster!
Office Automation Suite will improve the efficiency in your organization. Retrieving datafrom IFS Applications automatically, populating your Office templates, you will have more time to focus on the primary tasks in your organization

Better!
By distributing Addovation's Office Automation Suite's modules to non-ERP users, data quality is increased and documentation work flows will improve.

MAIN FEATURES

Document Management from Microsoft Office. Check in the documents as they are created, without starting IFS Applications. Add Object connections during check in or review. Check in your email with attachments directly from Outlook.

Automatically populated templates and reports. Make data from IFS Applications an integrated part of your Microsoft Word® and Excel®. Improve productivity and accuracy with the flexibility you need. Update complex data sets from Excel and feed the data back in to IFS Applications.

Document Search directly from MS Office. With Office Automation Suite, users can easily search for recently used documents, search by object connections, document status and content.

Automatic server based document generation. Reports containing information, photos and signatures from IFS Applications can be generated server side, connected to the correct business object along with a view copy.

Check in from Windows File Explorer. Our add-on lets you check in multiple documents directly from the Windows file explorer.

Outlook Folder Sync. Configure your folders in Outlook to automatically check in documents and connect to business objects in IFS Applications.

Signature Management. Sign documents, release and create view copies in 1-2-3, with the OAS Signature Management Module.

Building Blocks. Build complex documents like product cataloges, quotations and agreements merging several documents into one , combined with the other powerful features of the Office Automation Suite and MS Office.

Mailings and Labels. Create mailings or labels, fetching data from IFS Applications in to your documents. Combining the Microsoft Office merging tools with the Office Automation Suite powers. Add dynamic QR or Bar codes, pictures and hyperlinks!

OUR CUSTOMERS

We are proud to have clients all over the world, in almost every industry and business. Our footprints are found in more than 80 world wide companies from Norway, Sweden, UK, USA, Singapore, Australia and several more to come.

We'd be very exited to announce you as our new client, helping you making your business even more efficient and profitable.

Since Addovation was founded in 2008, we are proud to say that we have provided solutions that makes users happier and more efficient.

We're finally in control of our documentation!

"Previously, we had internal resistance towards the company's document management. Complaints about usability and probably also lack of training made daily operations complicated. One time we even sent the wrong version of a document to a customer which could have cost us dearly.

Today, we are happily running IFS Applications and Office Automation Suite from Addovation.

It is easy to use, and also very efficient. We are finally in control of document versions, document status and templates.

To be able to do all the document operations directly from Microsoft Office has definitely added value to our organization. It requires less training, and relieves the IT department from a lot of pressure. The internal resistance has turned to enthusiasm!"

IT Manager

Weekly reporting is no longer a hassle!

"I used to spend a lot of my time compiling project information every month. It was stressful to me because I was needed in other processes of the project, and didn't want to spend so much time doing reports.

With Information Merger from Addovation, my days are much simpler. Automatically generated reports based on templates, can be approved,signed and checked in with a few clicks. I can spend my time in a smarter way, as the automation of important reports give me a great overview of all the activities and other important aspects of the project.

We have been able to improve the templates ourselves, and now all the Project Managers in the company are using them!"
